WENDELL PHILLIPS GARRISON. SON OF NOTED ABOLITIONIST DEAD AT SOUTH ORANGE, NEW JERSEY.

Mr. Wendell Phillips Garrison, son of the late William Lloyd and Helen Benson Garrison, died at his home in South Orange, N. J., last night. He had been ill for several weeks.

Mr. Garrison was born in Cambridge, June 4, 1840. He was graduated from Harvard at the age of seventeen, and after two years of private teaching and tutoring, entered journalism. His first employment was in January, 1864, with the New York Independent. In July, 1865, he became associated with Edwin Lawrence Godwin in founding the Nation.

Mr. Garrison worked in connection with the literary side of the new weekly, and early assumed the laboring oar in its general management. It fell to his lot to draw together a staff of reviewers and contributors which speedily comprised the leading men of letters and science in this country and in Europe.

For the first sixteen years the Nation was an independent property. In 1881 it was combined with the New York Evening Post. Under the new management, Mr. Garrison became literary editor of the Evening Post and editor-in-chief of the Nation. This position he held until his retirement on June 28, 1906, because of the rapid failure of his health.

Mr. Garrison was married in 1865 to Lucy McKim, who died soon after. In 1891 he married Annie McKim Dennis. Two children survive him, Philip McKim of Orange, and Catherine McKim now Mrs. Charles Norton of Chicago; also two brothers, William Lloyd Garrison and Francis J. Garrison, of this city, and a sister, Fanny, now Mrs. Henry Villard, of New York.

Among Mr. Garrison's literary productions are, "The History of the Benson Family of Newport," "The Mothers Register," a translation from the French "What Mr. Darwin Saw in His Trip Around the World," "Bedside Poetry," "In Memoriam to His Wife," "Parables for School and Home," "Sonnets and Lyrics of the Ever-Womanly," and "The New Gulliver." He was also joint author with Francis J. Garrison of a life of their father, published in 1885.

A SPUR TO GENEROSITY.

Justice Harlan of the United States Supreme Court recently celebrated the golden anniversary of his wedding, and the event brought to light some stories of the stalwart jurist. One relates how the Justice was riding toward Washington on a sleeping car from Louisville. Before retiring he went to the smoking compartment to get a drink of water. There were half a dozen men in the place, and a flask had been passed around and the glass used for the liquor. Justice Harlan took up the glass, smelled it, and turned on the smokers:

"Who," he roared, in his deep bass voice, "has had the temerity to drink whiskey out of this glass?"

"I did," piped up the owner of the flask, somewhat awed by the great bulk of the Justice.

"Then, sir," said the Justice sternly, "where are you hiding the bottle?"

ICE QUARRIED IN THE ALPS.

Swiss Communes Make Money Shipping Glaciers.

Washington.—Ice quarrying is a new industry that has sprung up in Switzerland, according to a report received here by the consular bureau. While blasting Alpine glaciers threatens to destroy some of the magnificence of the scenery, Swiss communes are making money granting concessions for quarrying these great masses of ice for distribution in large cities of the continent.

According to the information received here, large sums have been expended constructing ice slides, or V-shaped troughs, in which blocks of ice, often of large size, blasted out of the glacier are transported to the vicinity of the stations for conveyance, in carefully refrigerated cars to Lyon, and other large cities remote from the Alps.

The method of blasting with black powder so as to avoid the discoloration and softening of the ice, and engineering ability displayed in erecting slides and in providing sufficient friction by means of curves to avoid excessive speed in the downward journey of the ice blocks, are spoken of as examples of considerable ingenuity and skill.

Glacier ice, which is perfectly pure and transparent, and which has many qualities greatly appreciated by consumers, commands a higher value than that of the usual kind obtained from the surface of frozen ponds or lakes.

A singular feature in connection with the preparation of the ice for the market is that it has been found necessary to store it several days in special warehouses, formed of a double thickness of boarding with a stratum of sawdust interposed, in order to remove a coating of frosted or non-transparent ice which tends to form on the surface of each block as it leaves the glacier.

MOST ANCIENT APPLE TREES.

Planted by Spaniards in New Mexico, They Have Borne Fruit 300 Years.

El Paso, Tex.—The oldest apple orchard in America if not in the world is in the center of the ancient town of Manzano, 18 miles southwest of Estancia, Torrance county, New Mexico. Many of the trees are more than six feet in circumference, but all are still fruitful and vigorous although neglected for generations. Little is known of the history of this orchard, but the oldest inhabitants of the valley of the Rio Grande remember the orchard from childhood and claim that the trees have not changed in appearance since then. Venerable Mexicans and Pueblo Indians tell of visiting the orchard as far back as they can remember and finding apples on the ground in all stages of decomposition at least two feet deep.

The Estancia valley has been peopled for ages, probably by the kinsmen of the natives found by the Spanish explorers at Gran Quivira, Abo and other ancient cities. Probably in the early days of the Spanish occupation some Franciscan monk found his way to Manzano and there planted the seeds that have developed into these venerable trees. They are no doubt fully 300 years old.

Close by the orchard is a little lake fed by a large spring. A short distance away is a grove of pines and cedars, making an ideal place for picnic and camping parties.

MUST WED, ELSE NO FORTUNE.

Bachelor Uncle Makes Short Stipulation for His Nephew.

Findlay, O.—According to John B. Lowery, of Toledo, he will soon, he hopes, set out for Australia to take possession of $20,000,000 left to him by an uncle.

Duncan Cameron, the uncle, was a resident of that country and accumulated his money in mines, bank stocks and ships. He died at the age of 90 years. He was a member of parliament and a man of influence, according to the story. He never took a wife and by the terms of the will $1,000,000 is to be divided among the servants.

One of the provisions of the will is that Lowery is to marry before he receives the legacy, and for that reason he will not consent to have his picture published, fearing an avalanche of letters from many irresponsible women. He will marry as soon as he finds a woman to his liking and will then go to Australia to claim the fortune. He says his wife must be able to maintain the dignity his vast wealth will bring.

Lowery was left an orphan at the age of 11 years and has been making his own way since that time. For years he has operated in the Michigan mining country and owns several mines.

Cadets Are Expert Fencers.

West Point, N. Y.—In the first fencing tourney of the season the cadets defeated Columbia, winning seven of the nine bouts fenced. In the first round Large and Ayers tied, and after they fenced an extra period the judges were still unable to decide. After the other bouts had been fenced Large won this bout in the third period. Dwyer won Columbia's other bout from Halabird in an extra period to decide a tie. Dickinson showed up in his old-time form and handily won all his bouts. The army team was composed of Cadets Halabird, Dickinson and Ayers. Columbia was represented by Berne, Large and Dwyer.

COURT HOUSE LUNCH ROOM.

Ex-Justice of the Peace E. M. Hewlett and Attorney Louis G. Gregory entered the lunchroom in the City Hall Wednesday afternoon and asked to be served. This particular room is set apart for members of the bar only, but it is frequented by white persons who are not members of the bar, but whenever a colored member of the bar enters this particular dining room objections are made. On Tuesday Mr. Hewlett and Mr. Gregory, both members of the bar, entered, and seated themselves and called to be served. The waiter informed them that they could not be served. Mr. Hewlett was then visited by the proprietress of the lunch room, and she asked him his name. He informed her, and was about to hand his card, when she said, "O! I don't want it; I thought it was you." Mr. Hewlett demanded to be served, but the proprietress was obdurate and said that she would not. She was informed that he would report her to the marshal, who would remove her from the building, as he did the former proprietor of the dining room for a similar offense. She said that she didn't care. Judge Hewlett left, and complained to the Marshal, who directed him to put his complaint in writing, which he did immediately and carried it to the Marshal himself.

This room is under the control of the United States Marshal, and permission is given to permit the occupant the privilege to conduct a lunch room for the accommodation of the public and the officers of the court. The public, prior to the present occupant using it, patronized this lunch room. The employees of the Recorder's Office also used this particular room. To prevent the outside public from using this dining room a notice is placed over the door which reads as follows: "For members of the bar." While this is an invitation to the members of the bar, it seems that it applies to the white members of the bar only, because colored members of the bar, the colored public, and all colored employees in and around the Court House and City Hall occupy the lunch counter, where they sit upon high chairs like animals at a trough. A decision from the Marshal is looked for with much anxiety.

TO THE BEE SUBSCRIBERS.

The Bee's collector will call in person upon the subscribers, and it is requested that everyone have his money in readiness when he calls. It is inconvenient for the collector to call a second time. The management takes this opportunity of informing you to be prepared when he calls. Out-of-town subscribers will receive no more papers after this issue until they remit. This is the final notice, and if they do not receive a paper next week they will certainly know the cause.

Respectfully, The Management.

A hospital room will be established in the State, War and Navy Building for sick clerks. It doesn't mention other employees. This is the great trouble—too much aristocracy in the government.
